This week comes the drive in Putnam for subscriptions to the second issue of Liberty bonds. From pulpits on Sunday and from various other sources at the week-end came the calls to rally to the financial support of the government in its death strugges against Kaiserism and all of the siniater evils associated with that world-blight.

This time the call is for the people and the corporations and business enterprises of the banking district of which Putnam is the center to subscribe for more than $100,000 worth of Liberty bonds, and the chances are all in favor of success for the project, mighty as it is.

The campaign to boom the Liberty loan here will be intensive beyond anything in the past history of the city and its surrounding territory. The central committee has mapped out plans that should serve to arouse the interest of every patriotic citizen and cause an unprecedented flow of subscriptions. An absolutely safe investment paying 4 per cent. interest is indeed a grand proposition about which to talk to an investor, purely from the investment side of the question; but in addition to this it is never to be for one moment forgotten that a subscription for a Liberty bond, of interest of every patriotic citizen and cause an unprecedented flow of subscriptions. An absolutely safe investing the paying a per cent. Interest is indeed a grand proposition about which to talk to an investor, purely from the investment side of the question; but in addition to this it is never to be for one moment forgotten that a subscription for a Liberty bond, of smell or large denomination, is a smooth of liberty hurning throughout the world.

Putnam has a high mark to shoot at in its endeavers to surpase the this district.

Putnam has a high mark to shoot the first Liberty loan campaign, but Putnam and the district for which it is the banking center, has high hope toward upholding the hands of the government.

In this great drive for the second Liberty loan one note of warning is being sounded, however. That nate calls attention to the necessity of properties of the call attention to the necessity of properties of the call attention to the necessity of properties of the call attention to the necessity of properties of the call attention to the necessity of properties of the call institutions lest over zealous activity to sell the Liberty bonds reacts in such a way as to mean ultimate injury to the referred to institutions. Any individual who withdraws a savings bank deposit or other local investment to buy a Liberty bond is doing neither the country ner the city of Putnam a partiolite service. No such extremes of enthusiasm for investment in the government loan should be encouraged. It is being pointed out on all sides, by men whe are thinking of this district's interests during the neriod after the war, and they are making clear that it is the duty and in the interest of every savings bank depositor and linestor in local enterprises, of period and linestor in local enterprises, of period with other moneys, preserably such money as can be saved by eliminating useless or frivolous expending the continued of the advance in fares, has not materialized.

To Mobilize Idle Money. In this great drive for billions of money for carrying on its war prejects it is not the intention of the government to draw funds from sources that are the basis of sound local financial conditions and it is not the desire nor intention of the government to have money withdrawn from places of deposit that represent the stability of the financial strength of a community. Rather the government desires to mobilize idle money and money that is men-interest paying for paying so little that an investment in Liberty bends will improve its earning power.

In this great drive for billions of the government to draw funds from Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Visatures are to spend the wint Lenter Caughlin of New the guest of Conrad Rutze and Mrs. Louis Reck of No are spending a few days it lage, having been called he illness and death of their rather than the control of the great that is men-interest paying the lage, having been called he illness and death of their rather than the control of the great that the great than the great that the great vice given as large a bond as you pos-sibly can: but pay for that bond without disturbing the present very satisfactory position of Putnam's fi-rancial institutions and without cremake way for an unpleasant reaction after the war. There is plenty of money in the country to meet the government's call and the other calls that are to follow, without dipping into the funds that represent the real reserve strength of this district. Buy a bend and save the money to pay for it. Save it by being economical in a hundred different ways. Buying a bond and paying for it with money saved from expenditure in frivolous enterprises and nastimes is the real essence of patriotism—an absolutely net gain to the government, the cause of liberty. the government, the cause of liberty, the community and the individual. Withdrawing money from a local banking institution to buy a bend is like taking $50 out of one pocket and putting it in another. Buy a bend, but let your local bank deposits alone, is the warning being sounded here.
